PRESIDENT WILSON'S FOREIGN CHARGES

In Paris Address, Wilson Refutes Idea That American People Are Largely Dollar Worshipers Or Materialists

PARIS, May 12.—President Wilson, in his address Saturday to the French academy of moral and political sciences, entered a strong disclaimer of the idea that the American people were largely materialists or dollar worshipers. "I have had in recent months one very deep sense of privilege," the president said, "I have been keenly aware that there have been times when the people of Europe have not understood the people of the United States. We have been supposed in the common phrase, to worship the almighty dollar. We have accumulated wealth, and we have devoted ourselves to material enterprises with extraordinary success, but there has underlain all of that, all the time, a common sense of humanity and a common sympathy with the high principles of justice which have never been given up in the darkest even of our history. I have never regretted the joy in these recent months to interpret the people of the United States to the people of the world."
